

Cian Quayle

Remade and Relocated - Malcolm Lowry's Shack at Dollarton, Vancouver (1940)

2017

1/50 scale model, mixed media, 60 x 30 x 28 cm

Conceived and made in collaboration with Aleyn-David Kewley

A 1/50 scale model, of Malcolm Lowry's shack on the Dollarton shoreline that he purchased for £100 in 1940. This model will later form the basis for a photographic work, ultimately to be displayed in a lightbox. This and other works will form part of an installation that will also feature a neon, text-based piece, which makes references to the Shellburn Oil Refinery facing the squatters' shacks on the far side of the Burrard Inlet.

Malcolm Lowry - Detours and Dislocations: the Maplewood Mudflats and Cates Park

2017

80 x 35 mm

Carousel slide projection

Heading East from North Vancouver towards Malcolm Lowry's Dollarton (now Cates Park), Maplewood mudflats is owned by the Metro of Vancouver and is now a nature and wildlife reserve, but was also home to another squatters' community until the 1970s.